BASE

The collaboration of Studio Piet Boon with Serax reflects a shared passion for beauty, and a commitment to delivering perfection. Merging design, individuality and functionality has resulted in a sophisticated complete range of tableware, including glassware and cutlery, and cookware – Base by Studio Piet Boon and Serax.

Base - Tableware

Base is a tableware collection that stands out for its timeless round shapes. Finished in immaculate white bone China, Base tableware is anything but boring. The neutral color does justice to dishes. And by playing with the different heights and sizes, you create optically surprising effects every time.

"Where minimalism and elegance converge in a pure and seemingly simple design."

– Piet Boon

Base - Glassware

The distinctive sleek, round shapes, and the perfect finish of the nine different glasses from the Base Glassware collection follow the trend of Studio Piet Boon's Base line for Serax. On an upright foot in the centre of a perfectly round circle, the four wine glasses, two champagne glasses, and the beer glass not only steal the show, the potassium glass also makes them particularly strong. The two water glasses have been given a sandblasted effect, as a result of which fingerprints are less likely to remain on the glass. The glasses from the Base Glassware collection are packed as a set of four in beautiful gift boxes.

Base - Cookware

Base Cookware guarantees sleek design with innovative looks and unsurpassed functionality. The basic range consists of a saucepan, a frying pan, and a small and large cooking pot, all of them comprised of three layers. On the interior, stainless steel was used for the highest possible food safety, followed by a layer of aluminium for better heat conduction, and on the exterior a layer of matt stainless steel or copper as the finishing touch. The Base Cookware pots and pans are taller than usual to prevent splashing. The flat lids with integrated handles emphasise the special proportions. The simple stainless-steel handles and the lid handles that align perfectly with those of the pans are provided with a protective colourless or black powder coating. The entire cooking set is suitable for all heat sources, including induction.
